

Additional Financial Literacy External Resources

Biz Kid$

<https://www.ncuf.coop/how-we-help/biz-kids/financial-literacy-curriculum.cmsx>

From the National Credit Union Foundation, Biz Kid$ is a financial literacy initiative that includes an award-winning TV series, free financial literacy curriculum, outreach activities, a website and a social media presence targeting children ages 9 to 16. Its focus is to help kids make and manage money.

Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

<https://www.consumerfinance.gov/practitioner-resources/youth-financial-education/>

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau has resources for both adult and youth financial literacy. The Bureau's youth program supports K-12 teachers, education leaders, and practitioners by providing information, tools, and resources that lead to more effective design and delivery of financial education.

Council for Economic Education

<https://www.councilforeconed.org/>

The Council for Economic Education provides both printable and online interactive curriculum tools, pedagogical support, and a community of peers that instruct, inspire and guide practitioners through the facilitation of financial literacy instruction.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

<https://www.fdic.gov/consumers/education/>

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation website provides tools to help teach financial education, including lesson plans, videos and other resources. Resources include a financial education program, an online resource center for educators, consumer news and a youth banking resource center.

Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

<https://www.stlouisfed.org/education>

This website provides free lesson plans, activities, and readings to teach economics and financial literacy. It offers flexibility and real-world connections to help prepare students with 21st century skills for college and career readiness. Activities incorporate storybooks and English literacy skills for youth and include more detailed resources for adult family members.

FutureSmart

<https://everfi.com/offerings/listing/futuresmart/>

This free online course empowers middle and high school students to effectively manage their finances, make sound decisions, and become stewards of their financial future. Interactive exercises challenge students to make choices in real-life scenarios to achieve important goals around saving, education and career planning, and budgeting.

Additional Financial Literacy External Resources

Jump$tart: Financial Smarts for Students

<https://www.jumpstart.org/>

Jump$tart is a coalition of diverse financial education stakeholders working together to educate and prepare our nation's youth for life-long financial success. Jump$tart offers tools and resources to help practitioners implement financial literacy best practices, such as national standards in K-12 personal finance education, an online resource library, and Reality Check, an online calculator that helps students determine the income needed to support their dream lifestyle.

Money Math: Lessons for Life

www.treasurydirect.gov/indiv/tools/tools_moneymath.htm

Money Math is a four-lesson curriculum supplement for middle school students that teaches math concepts using real-life examples from personal finance. Specifically designed for grades 7-9, the teacher's guide includes lesson plans, reproducible activity pages and teaching tips.

MyMoney.gov

www.mymoney.gov

This website is a product of the Congressionally chartered Federal Financial Literacy and Education Commission. It provides resources for youth, educators and researchers that aim to strengthen financial capability and increase access to financial services for all Americans.

National Endowment for Financial Education

www.nefe.org

This website is dedicated to inspiring empowered financial decision making and providing financial education along with practical information to people at all financial levels. It provides youth and adult financial education resources, training tools from the classroom to the workplace, research and consumer surveys.

TD Bank WOW!Zone

<https://www.tdbank.com/wowzone/educators/>

WOW!Zone is comprehensive financial literacy program created by TD Bank. The goal is to provide children and teens with valuable information about money, saving, banking and investing. It's designed to be educational, fun and interactive while providing a solid foundation for everyone to create a strong financial future.

Understanding Taxes: The Quick and Simple Way to Understand Your Taxes

<https://apps.irs.gov/app/understandingTaxes/>

Making real-world connections to classroom instruction is an important goal of educators. This website, from the IRS, provides an interactive tax education program for middle school, high school and community college classrooms that includes detailed lesson plans and instructional simulations.

Wells Fargo Bank

<https://handsonbanking.org/>

Hands On Banking is a free financial curriculum that provides the essentials of financial education, real-world skills, and knowledge that every student can use. The curriculum is designed for four age groups: Kids (grades 4 and 5), Teens (grades 6-8), Young Adults (ages 15-21), and Adults.

This resource is in the public domain. Authorization to reproduce it in whole or in part is granted. This resource was funded by the U.S. Department of Education in 2018 under contract number ED-ESE-14-D-0008. The views expressed here are not necessarily those of the Department. Learn more about professional development planning and 21st CCLC learning at <https://y4y.ed.gov>.